In FASHION Now

White icing of organdy is an important fresh new look for Spring. Tiered lantern sleeves and huge pouffed collars of organdy are the newest white touches of Spring for clothes.

On polka dots, checks and black and navy dresses, organdy icing looks crisp and more feminine than linen or pique.

Full organdy sleeves are set into slim dresses, giving flattering width through the top of the silhouette. Large organdy collars are often layered and ruffled and are a pleasing contrast to the starkly simple sheaths they top.

Most of these sleeves and collars of organdy snap out of the dress — making two entirely different dresses from one. Also, the cleaning problem is made much simpler this way.

It is possible to pack these new organdy collars and sleeves detached from the dress so they will not be crushed.

Spring hats reflect the organdy icing look in many of the cocktail and afternoon creations. Floppy organdy flowers decorate many of the better Spring straws. One interesting hat we saw was fashioned with a small felt crown that featured a soft brim of many layers of organdy. The organdy framed the face and was most becoming.

Another hat that caught our eye was a simple inverted bowl of organdy violets emerging from ivy leaves. The soft texture of the organdy coupled with the lovely violet color did wonderful things for the complexion and eyes.

RED CROSS

March 1st marked the beginning of another Red Cross Fund Campaign for the Appomattox County Chapter.

According to William A. Hunter, Chapter Chairman, the goal for the local chapter this year is $2,332.00.

Mr. Hunter says, " I wish to impress upon each citizen of Appomattox County the importance of the Red Cross organization, not only on the National and International level but as a local service organization. We all know of the great service the Red Cross has rendered to our service men and their families both at home and abroad, especially in times of emergency. We only have to remember the newscasts of recent weeks from the disaster areas of the U. S., hit by devastating tornadoes and floods to know that the Red Cross was truly on the job when these victims needed it most. We hope disaster such as this never comes to our county, but let's be prepared to give aid through the Red Cross in case it does.

"The local chapter keeps approximately 55 percent of all funds raised in the county to carry on its local service. Some of these include the Home Service Program, rendering service to men of the armed forces and their families, disaster relief, giving aid to those struck by disaster, the water safety program conducted by Coach Gordon Bragg instructing our young people in swimming and life saving. I am sure everyone realizes the value of the Red Cross Blood Program to the county. Blood is always available from the Blood Bank to anyone from this county and without cost except for a small charge of administering the transfuton.

"I hope everyone realizes that it is truly a privilege to become a member of such a worthy organization. I urge you to give generously so that we may reach our goal and continue to give aid and serve those in need.

"Last year we fell short of our goal and therefore, it was necessary that the Chapter borrow money to continue its local services. With everyone's help, I trust it will not be necessary to do this again.

"I hope the community and workers will make personal contact with everyone possible but if for some reason you are not contacted please send your contribution to the fund treasurer, Mrs. Jean LeGrand, at the Bank of Appomattox."

On Monday night the three Brownie troops will present a program for the American Legion Auxiliary, their sponsoring group.
